To whom it may concern,

This is to certify that Vageesh Tiwari was an intern at the Indian School of Business between December 14, 2021 and February 14, 2022. He worked for approximately 80-100 hours on two assignments: one was a data preparation task that involved scraping a website and the other was aimed at studying the correlation between ethnicity of bureaucrats and economic development. The former assignment used Python while the latter was Stata-based.
